Diverging Gazes

Curated by: Juan-Ramón Barbancho

Exhibition dates: June 13th – August 02 2009

Reception: Saturday June 13th from 6-9pm

DEAN PROJECT is delighted to present “Divergent Gazes” our 2009 summer exhibition curated by Juan-Ramón Barbancho.

This exhibition brings the photography and video work of nine artists from Spain; María Cañas, Francis Naranjo, Felipe Ortega-Regalado, Andrés Senra, Alex Francés, Miguel Soler, Eduardo Sourrouille, Paka Antúnez and Víctor Manuel Gracia.

“This exhibition offers a reflection on the body and the gaze, and their relationship with other elements such as light, space, and the individual himself. This reflection is both on and within the works of the artists who are participating in the show.

The works presented in this exhibition, although very different among themselves, each share the same objective and the same intention: they are visions of the human body, different ways of treating a vision of corporeal nature that are related to very different issues: the reality of death in the cases of Víctor Manuel Gracia and Miguel Soler (although his is of a someone peculiar form), the passage of time in Alex Francés, the relationship of man and animal in the world of Eduardo Sourrouille, María Cañas' Post vision of the gaze, the spaces of Felipe Ortega, and the power struggles in the work of Andrés Senra.”
